NEWS FROM CPE

Chemical and Petroleum Engineering Departmental Newsletter

In this issue:
- News and announcements
- Faculty Spotlight
- Upcoming Events
- What’s Going on in the Department
- Quote of the Week

U.S. News and World Report

Highlight KU Graduate Programs

Our petroleum Engineering Graduate Program was ranked in the top 10, and the Chemical Engineering Graduate Program is in the top 50. Way to go everybody!

Faculty Spotlight

Xiaoli (Laura) Li joined us last fall and is currently teaching C&PE 327. Dr. Li came to KU from the University of Regina where she received her Ph.D. in Petroleum Systems Engineering. Previously she received her Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees from China University of Petroleum. Her main research interests include CO₂ enhanced oil recovery and CO₂ storage, Phase behavior of reservoir fluids, Multi-phase flow in porous media, Shale gas reservoir development, and Anti-scaling and anti-waxing in oilfield. If you haven’t had a chance to meet her yet, stop by her office at 4141B Learned.

What’s Going on in the Department

It’s advising time! You should be able to make an appointment with your advisor/advisees through the MySuccess Portal->Starfish. If that is not working, contact Dawn Shew: dshaw@ku.edu

Bala Subramaniam has been named an ACS-IEC Division Fellow

The CPE Department would like to announce and congratulate Professor Bala Subramaniam on being named an ACS-IEC Division Fellow. There was a symposium in his honor at the Annual ACS Meeting on March 13th in San Diego, CA.

Two Engineering Students Among 2016 Men of Merit

Congratulations to John Michael Handley, Tomas W. Green, and all the other honorees. Full Article

Upcoming Events

March 29th: Engaging Undergraduates in International Research 3PM - Big XII Room at the KU Student Union

March 30th: Flapjacks for Philanthropy 11AM LEEP2 Atrium

March 31st: Graduate Seminar with guest speaker Jiye James Fang from SUNY.

Save the Date

April 9th: Diversity Programs 45th Anniversary Celebration 7PM – LEEP2 Atrium

April 30th: Annual CPE Spring Award and Honors Banquet

Quote of the Week:

“Imagination will often carry us to worlds that never were. But without it we go nowhere.” -- Carl Sagan